

Adam J. Peterson, MD

Education & Training:

Dr. Peterson received his medical degree from University of South Dakota Sanford School of Medicine as well as completing his residency in psychiatry and fellowship in child and adolescent psychiatry.

Experience:

As a young person, Dr. Peterson was influenced by the impact health care workers can have on their patients and chose to follow medicine. Being part of a team and being able to see patients thrive, are Dr. Peterson's greatest rewards. Specific experience includes:

- Participated in the Avera First Steps Program
- University of South Dakota Child & Adolescent Fellowship Psychiatry Residency Program
- University of South Dakota Psychiatry Residency Program
- Dialectical Behavioral Therapy: A Day with Marsha Linehan, 2016
- Attended lecture on the merits of Dialectical Behavioral Therapy
- University of South Dakota Sanford School of Medicine
- Clinical instructor in the Department of Psychiatry
- Conducted interviews for graduating medical students applying to University of South Dakota Psychiatry Residency Program

About Me:

I enjoy live music as well as spending time with my friends, family and two dogs.
