

Jonathan Roebuck, MD COL(R)

Education & Training:

Dr. Roebuck is board-certified by the American Board of Internal Medicine in Rheumatology and has been actively managing patients with all forms of rheumatic disease for over 20 years.

He received a Bachelor of Arts degree in Biology from Brown University and a Medical Degree from Georgetown University. He completed an internship and residency in Internal Medicine at Madigan Army Medical Center and a Fellowship in Rheumatology at Walter Reed Army Medical Center.

Experience:

In addition to his position as a Telehealth Rheumatologist for Avel eCare, Dr. Roebuck is a current clinical Rheumatologist with the Department of Defense. He started this practice after 21 years of active duty service as military medical officer and previously held positions while on active duty including: Program Director for Army and Navy Rheumatology fellows, Rheumatology Consultant to the Surgeon General and Designated Institutional Official and Director of Medical Education for Eisenhower Army Medical Center.

About Me:

My passion is my family. I have four amazing children aged 12-20 and a beautiful wife who is my best friend of 22 years. I enjoy exercise and fitness, as well as salt and freshwater fishing. I also have served as a youth baseball coach and love the game of baseball.